American Antitrust Institute Calls for Nominees for Inaugural Awards

Christopher Sagers (Cleveland-Marshall College of Law) · Wednesday, September 11th, 2013

Attention antitrusters! I'm pleased to pass along news of interest to all lawyers and economists active in antitrust litigation: The American Antitrust Institute has instituted a new award program to recognize those each year who have made the most significant contributions in antitrust enforcement.

While I don't speak for the group, I expect the goal is to recognize and encourage private plaintiff or other enforcement actions that make the most significant doctrinal or theoretical contributions to an effective competition law.

Details for nominations and self-nomination appear below; my thanks to Wolters Kluwer and AntitrustConnect for allowing me to publicize this award.

Call for Entries for AAI 2013 Antitrust Enforcement Awards

The American Antitrust Institute invites legal practitioners and economists, to submit entries for the AAI 2013 Antitrust Enforcement Awards. Two award categories have been identified for the awards program's inaugural year:

The award submission period ends on September 30. The awards will be presented at a gala dinner on Tuesday, December 3, 2013 following the AAI's Annual Private Antitrust Enforcement Conference in Washington, DC.
